A Double Surprise.

An enjoyable surprise party was tendered Mrs. J. C. Boes Wednesday evening at her home, East End, by a number of relatives, the occasion being an anniversary of her birth. By a singular coincidence it was also the birthday anniversary of Mrs. E. Beardsmore, who, with Mrs. L. Poulton, also of Woodfield, O., are the guests of Mrs. Boes. The double surprise evented into a very pleasant evening, music, amusements and refreshments being supplementary features.

Entertainment at Altenheim.

The lady managers of Altenheim have decided to give a doll show and bazaar at that beautiful home on December 2nd, and the announcement is made this early so that the friends of the institution may so regulate their future engagements as not to conflict with the above named date. Altenheim is one of the worthiest philanthropies supported by the liberality of Wheeling's boundless charity, and what is more to the credit still, is that it seldom calls on the public to contribute to its support. For this reason, if no other, this entertainment should receive the united patronage of all who sympathize with objects of such a commendable character.

The Y. M. C. A. Concert.

The Pittsburgh Post makes the following comment on the leader of the Y. M. C. A. course next Tuesday: "It would be impossible to say too much in Mr. von Kunze's praise; the audience was simply spellbound. His playing is at once impassioned and intellectual, broad, even and exact; finished in conception and exquisite in execution; full of fire, boldness and temperament." All the members of the strong quartette and Miss Daman, the contralto, are artists of notable ability. Seats will be reserved at the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday morning.

MATTER OF GRADE.

Council Committee and Citizens
Make an Investigation

AT TWELFTH AND MAIN STREETS

RELATIVE TO THE GRADE OF THE THOROUGHFARE, THE PROPOSED PAVING, SURFACE DRAINAGE, SEWAGE AND OTHER MATTERS—NO CONCLUSION WAS ARRIVED AT—A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS IS PROBABLE.

The city authorities have a problem on their hands; it is, what to do in the improvement of Twelfth street between Market and the river front. The city has made an appropriation of $2,200 for paving the street with brick, which will carry the work from the east side of Water street to the west side of Market street. The brick is on the ground, and the contractor is ready to commence work at any time.

It has been suggested that before the street is paved such a change in the grade be made at Main and Market as would provide for surface drainage for the north side of the street, and that water closet drainage and house drainage generally be carried from the north side of the street, where it enters the old three-foot brick sewer, to the south side of the street, where it is to be connected with the twenty-inch sewer, and that the brick sewer on the north side of the street be closed to surface drainage at Market street and filled up, at least as far west as Main street. In connection with this it is proposed to drop the grade at the intersection of Market street and Twelfth streets something like a foot, to lower the grade at the intersection of Main and Twelfth streets several inches, raise the grade of the sidewalk at the southeast corner of Main and Twelfth streets about ten inches, and thus allow surface water to shoot straight down Twelfth street from Chapline, and beyond to the river.

There has raised a howl from property owners along Twelfth street, principally, however, on the north side, between Main and Market. They object to the expense of carrying their sewage across Twelfth street to the creek sewer on the south side. They ask how the city proposes to connect the three-foot sewer which comes down Market street, north of Twelfth, with the twenty-inch sewer which runs down Market street south of Twelfth. They want to know what would happen in times of heavy rain, when the water from this three-foot sewer attempted to find an exit through the twenty-inch sewer; they want to know why the city cannot put a sewer in on the north side of Twelfth street first, and pave the street afterwards; they desire to be informed why the city cannot content itself with paying this year, and let the north go until the sewer question can be settled next year.

The council committee on streets, alleys and grades, a member of the board of public works, representatives of the two street railway lines and a number of property owners met yesterday afternoon. A few property owners wanted the street paved, more wanted the sewer attended to first; others didn't object to the raising of the sidewalk at Main and Twelfth streets, provided the city bore the expense, and still others were undecided about the whole matter. The city engineer explained matters as well as could be done, and something like an hour was spent in going over the idea. The result was that little of a tangible nature was accomplished, and a special meeting of the board of public works will probably be called for to-day, at which property owners will be invited to be present.

It appears that the city, through the board of public works, has the right to change the grade of a street between the curb lines, but that it has no right to change the grade of sidewalks on streets where a grade has been established without the consent of property owners interested. The probabilities are that the board will go ahead and make such changes in the street proper as will make it conform to surface drainage ideas, and it is also probable that property owners at Main and Twelfth streets will consent to raising the grade at the intersection of those streets, but this does not touch the question of sewage on the north side of Twelfth streets, between Main and Market, and there is where the hitch will come.

It is generally conceded that any new sewer put down on the north side of Twelfth street should be about five feet in diameter, and such a sewer would probably cost six or seven dollars a foot. This would mean an expenditure of about $5,000 for a five-foot sewer between the river and Market street, and the board of public works not only has not the money to do the work this year, but it cannot get it next year, except by an arrangement between Second and Third ward councilmen to give up their ten cent levy funds to this work, to the extension of all other work.

AN ISLAND BLAZE

Yesterday Afternoon Consumed a Barn and Its Contents.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in calling the department to Virginia street, on the island. The barn in the rear of the residence of Ex-Sheriff Franzheim, used by J. F. Agnew, the roofing man, who lives next door, at No. 28, caught fire in an unknown manner and was practically destroyed before the fire department had the blaze out. For a time it looked as though the fire would communicate to neighboring property, but the department succeeded by good work in keeping the fire in its original limits. The loss will probably reach $500.
